

Coal Strike Situation Is Unchanged

MEETING TOMORROW WILL DECIDE FATE OF NATION

LEWIS GIVES NO INDICATIONS THAT STRIKE ORDER WILL BE RECALLED WHEN MAIN BODY MEETS

WILL DRAFT REPLY TO WILSON

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—The executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America, 25 union district presidents of coal producing states and members of the main body committee will meet at headquarters here at ten o'clock tomorrow morning to draft an answer to President Wilson's appeal that the soft coal strike set for Friday at midnight be called off.

That the answer will be that the strike must go on unless demands are met by the mine operators was the opinion at mine headquarters today. Blame for the strike will be placed on the mine operators in the answer, it was stated.

Meantime preparations for the strike continue. A hundred per cent strike was predicted by union officials here.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 28.—There is no indication that the coal strike order will be rescinded, according to acting President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers today. Lewis left for Indianapolis today to attend a meeting of the executive board of the miners called to consider the strike situation. He said the board probably will make a reply to President Wilson then but he emphasized the statement that the board was not called to vote to withdraw the strike order.

THE WINBURNE BRICK & SHARP

The Winburne Brick Company hearing continued from Saturday last was re-opened before Judge Bell this morning. Promoter Thomas M. Wilson was again placed upon the stand and testified in his own behalf until about 11 o'clock when Thomas Allabran, of Pungitawney, one of the organizers and Treasurer of the corporation was called for examination by A. H. Woodward, Esq. Allabran, according to his story, some of which was stricken out by Judge Bell because it was not pertinent to this case. Wilson was to divide fifty with him when he got his $100,000 for turning over the leases for the Snyder properties to the brick company. Allabran was on the stand when adjournment was taken at noon. His examination and that of the Cooper township stockholders took up the entire afternoon session and will be noted in tomorrow's Progress.

NEED MORE GOOD HIGHWAYS

One of Benefits of War is Sure to Be Increase in Thoroughly Improved Roads.

One of the benefits of the war is sure to be more good roads in this country, and in other parts of the world where highways have not been generally and thoroughly improved. We used to say "better roads," but now there is a large mileage so good that if the rest were brought up to the best American level, nothing more could sensibly be asked. Many roads in America are quite worthy of comparison with any in Europe. All we need is more of them, and then still more until the country is gridironed and netted with such highways.

Good Roads Available.

When the people of the towns and country unite to build and maintain roads then will good roads be available.

While Scrubs Journey To The Village Of Clymer To Get Trimmed By "Old Boys"

MT. UNION TEAM STRONG

Under the stimulus of the cheer of a good-sized crowd of students and townspeople C. H. S. proceeded to give Mt. Union a taste of real football Saturday. The weather man remembered his promise and sent ideal weather for the game, thereby adding to the size of the crowd and the success of the day. Although the game was interesting all the way through there were no spectacular plays and but few complicated formations used by either side. In the first it was a clean, steady game which gave the spectators all that could be desired in the way of football and gave the team the assurance of another victory to back them up in next Saturday's game with DuBois. Clearfield had scored one goal for several points when the game ended but Mt. Union was still hunting for the post.

Captain Butler was not in the game and the second team was playing at Clymer, thus limiting Clearfield's punch and reserve force and no doubt accounting in a large measure for the small score. Mt. Union put up a very good game, however, and although they did not attempt any brilliant work the weight of their line enabled them to make very marked gains by the use of straight football. They had an exceptionally heavy line and made good use of it on several occasions when hard pressed by the Red and Black.

Everybody was well pleased with the game and it is generally conceded that it was the best game seen here for some time. The account of the game by quarters which follows will give some idea of the progress of the play.

First Quarter
Clearfield's bounding kick-off was carried to the middle of the field by a Mt. Union man and the two teams quickly lined up for the first clash. Putting their trust in their superior weight, Mt. Union began their offensive with a series of line plunges. For a time it seemed they had the tight system, because every time they tried a goodly gain. But C. H. S. worked fast and after two or three downs the line stiffened and held and after that the visitors pounded fruitlessly against the much lighter locals. When they were still thirty yards from the goal and their line plays had ceased to advance them so rapidly Mt. Union attempted to gain a goal in a hurry by a forward pass. The pass was incomplete and the ball went to Clearfield.

The ball was on the ten-yard line, however, and C. H. S. settled down to get it away from their own goal. Mt. Union held fast and the quarter ended with the ball on Clearfield's twenty-yard line.

Second Quarter
The quarter opened with a rush and continued at a fast pace all the way through. Clearfield tried several line plays and then lost the ball on a forward pass but soon recovered it when Mt. Union kicked. The ball was then on Clearfield's ten yard line and the visitors held C. H. S. to a five-yard gain and then got the ball on downs. Profiting by their previous experience, Mt. Union stuck to line plunges and earned the ball back to Clearfield's two-yard line. Here the local sound took a stand and held fast until the whistle ended the half.

Third Quarter
Mt. Union began the second half with a clean kick-off which Clearfield received within ten yards of their goal and carried back to their thirty-yard line. Several line plays bringing but a small gain. C. H. S. changed their tactics and began a series of end runs and passes that soon carried them close to Mt. Union's goal. The first of these plays was an end run in which Cox carried the ball for a twenty-five yard gain.

OPPOSITION IN SENATE TO OVER-RIDING VETO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—An attempt to obtain a speedy vote on President Wilson's veto on the national prohibition bill encountered opposition in the Senate when the matter was brought up by Senator Sterling.

Immediately before the Senate discussed it, it was made known at the White House that President Wilson will not lift the ban on war time prohibition until the ratification of the peace treaty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Wilson has an intention of lifting the war time prohibition ban until the peace treaty is ratified, it was learned at the White House today. All indications pointed to an early over-riding of the President's veto of the national prohibition enforcement act. It was stated that the President may lift the ban as soon as he feels he has legal authority but no sooner.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The President today vetoed the Prohibition enforcement bill.

At 5:15 o'clock with the time for adjournment near, the President's veto message was read to the House. Barely two hours later the House in a holiday session, voted decisively to override the veto, although a parliamentary tangle threatened to hold up the measure.

The vote in the House was 176 to 55 with two members voting present. Action in the Senate will come later in the week. There is no question but that its vote to override the veto will be equally as decisive, so the President's action will have served merely to stave the enforcement of the bill temporarily.

In rejecting the prohibition measure the President gave as his principal reason that there is no need now for the enforcement of the war time prohibition act further, because its objects have been satisfied by the demobilization.

The President's message follows:
To the House of Representatives:
"I am returning without my signature, H. R. Bill 6810, an act to prohibit intoxicating beverages and to regulate the manufacture, production, use and sale of high proof spirits."

"The subject matter treated in this measure deals with two distinct phases of the prohibition legislation. One part of the act seeks to enforce war time prohibition. The other provides for the enforcement which was made necessary by the adoption of the constitutional amendment. I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to war time prohibition. It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergency of the war and whose object has been satisfied in the demobilization of the army and navy and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of Congress. Where the purposes of particular legislation arising out of war emergencies have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for repeal."

"It will not be difficult for Congress in considering this important matter to separate these two questions and effectively to legislate regarding them; making the proper distinction between temporary causes which arose out of war time emergencies and those life the constitutional prohibition, which is now a part of the fundamental law. In all matters having to do with the personal habits and customs of large numbers of our people, we must be certain that the established processes of legal change are followed. In no other way can the salutary objects sought be accomplished by great reforms of this character be made satisfactory and permanent."

Signed
WOODROW WILSON

When the president's veto message was read in the house Representative Volstead of Minnesota, Chairman of the House Judiciary, which framed the legislation, moved to postpone consideration until Thursday. There were few members on the floor at the time, and the "wets" counting noses, saw an opportunity to sustain the veto.

A parliamentary wrangle ensued in which half a dozen motions were voted down and finally Representative Volstead moved the previous question which set off debate and brought the veto before the house. The previous question was adopted and the vote to override the veto was taken.

The President's action in vetoing the measure caused a stir in Congress. Both wet and dry leaders in the senate joined tonight in the opinion that the action in the senate on the measure would be similar to that of the House.

The President's action does not change the existing situation in any untoward degree in those states cities and communities where a court ruling has already legalized the sale of 2.75 per cent. alcoholic beverages. The sale of these may be continued if the prohibition act becomes a law, severe penalties would have been imposed on anyone selling liquors containing more than one-half per cent. of alcohol.

JUSTICE HOODWINKED

Some ten or a dozen boys boys were before Judge Bell in Juvenile court yesterday afternoon, charged with varying degrees of cussedness, extending from petty larceny to incorrigibility and refusal to go to school.

The great Pennsylvania Railroad Company had three little lads aged 8, 10 and 11 years yanked over the hills from Tyler for stealing a freezer of ice cream left standing in front of the station there. Two of the lads were Americans and the third was a little Italian. The alleged crime was committed last winter and there was possibly two or three dollars involved yet these children were taken out of school and their parents put to the expense of coming to Clearfield to answer for a thoughtless kid's prank which should have been settled at home with a shingle or at least by the Justice of the Peace unless it was a case of more costs the other way.

The testimony showed the boys were good boys and had never been in any trouble before yet the railroad company by their hired detective robbed the nursery and pasted a criminal court record on three irresponsible kiddos. Judge Bell gave the boys a friendly talking to and sent them home under parole of Probation Officer Leavy, but the haling of such mere children into criminal court under such circumstances no doubt accounts for the blindfold over the eyes of the figure representing Justice which generally adorns American court rooms.

The railroad company "bull" is a necessary evil and Detective Lowery is a good man in his place but this case looked more like persecution than necessary prosecution.

LAKE STEAMER CRASHES ON PIERS

MUSKEGON, Mich.—Ten persons were reported drowned early today when a lake steamer, the "City of Muskegon," was blown to pieces against the piers at Muskegon. Seven bodies were recovered. The vessel entered the harbor as a 60 mile gale was blowing. The vessel was launched in Detroit in 1881. It was first known as the "City of Milwaukee." She has a metal hull and is 231 feet long. Later her name was changed to the "City of Holland." The vessel was wrecked at 4:30 A. M., in a heavy sea. The old boat attempted to push between two piers, one extending out into the lake. A great wave struck her just as she entered the passage and threw the boat broadside against the south pier. Timbers were smashed to splinters. In the darkness and confusion a count of the passengers was attempted. Twenty persons were unaccounted for. Some of these are believed to have climbed to the piers after being thrown into the water. Only ten are believed to be lost, according to Captain Edward Miller.

H. S. DOWNS MT. UNION IN FAST GRID MATCH

This was the cleanest play of the entire game and brought a greater gain than any other attempt. It was followed almost immediately for a forward pass which landed the Red and Black on Mt. Union's three-yard line. Attempting to push the ball over by line plays Clearfield was stopped four times and lost the ball on downs within two yards of making a touchdown.

Mt. Union was in a hurry to get the ball to the other end of the field and tried another forward pass. This failed worse than the others they had tried because Bowes intercepted the pass and carried the ball back to the five-yard marker. The playing was resumed with a snap and only the umpire's whistle ending the quarter prevented Clearfield from scoring.

Last Quarter

The ball was now only three yards from Mt. Union's goal and Clearfield was determined to score. With this visitors all lined up and waiting to shove back another series of line plays the Red and Black squad changed their tactics and by a fake formation Bowes carried a forward pass over for the first goal. Flegal preceded to place a clean kick and brought Clearfield's score up to seven points.

After the kick off C. H. S. held the Mt. Union line hard and got the ball on downs. The ball had been carried well into the Red and Black territory however, and the forward pass by which they attempted to carry it down the field was incomplete, thus giving the ball to Mt. Union. With only a few minutes to play Mt. Union took advantage of the opportunity afforded by the failure of Clearfield's pass and worked their mass line plays for all they were worth. C. H. S. worked hard, however, and held the heavy visitors so well that they were still twenty yards from the goal when the game ended.

The Scrubs at Clymer

In order to give the scrubs a little experience and in acknowledgement of their strenuous work in making the first team what it is, the manager of the team arranged a game with Clymer last Saturday. The second team journeyed to that little town of mines and mud holes with the expectation of meeting a high school team and were fully confident of giving the Clymerites all they wanted in the way of good football.

One generally expects to find "miners" in a high school team and Clymer lived up to all expectations. The game was scheduled for three o'clock but the scrubs were kept waiting for at least an hour before there was any sign of an opposing team. Then about four fifteen long-delayed warriors of the mining town put in their appearance and the cause of the delay was at once apparent. The men were indeed "miners." Just above the neck of his jersey each defender of Clymer's football reputation carried a collar-like ring which he had been unable to wash off in the short time he had had between quitting at the mine and appearing on the grid. The scrubs finally learned that they were to pit their skill against the brawn and muscle of the Clymer Athletic Association and not a high school team as they had expected.

The teams lined up and the battle began. Most of the men on Clymer's team were of considerable size, their line averaging about one hundred sixty-five pounds to Clearfield's hundred and thirty-five. Besides this advantage in weight Clymer had another decided advantage in the enthusiasm exhibited by their cheering section. The Clymer warriors were not only out of the "minor" class, but most of them were possessed of a wife and several leather-lunged offspring and one would travel a long way before finding a more devoted or enthusiastic bunch of cheerers. When "Dad" lined up on the field the entire family began shouting words of encouragement from their point of vantage on the side-lines.

Clearfield worked hard but made little showing against such opponents and with the assembled families shouting such words of encouragement as "get him Pop," our men soon began to show signs of wear. However, the scrubs kept up a good fight

Comb Sage Tea Into Gray Hair

Ladies! Try this! Darkens beautifully and nobody can tell—Brings back its gloss and youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost at any drug store, known as "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not unattractive, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking only small stand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

IRA WAITE WASN'T HUNTING BEAR SO WHY SHOOT BRUIN

County Treasurer Kline, Leslie Stewart and Ira B. Waite were down along Three Runs, in Clinton county last week, on a squirrel shooting expedition, and not only found lots of squirrels, but according to information leaking out gradually here and there, "Old Man" Waite appears to have had the time of his life for a little while at least.

One morning the crew got out into the squirrel woods just at daybreak, and each fellow hied himself to his particular vantage point, to wait for the squirrels to come along. Waite selected a spot in a ravine where hickory trees were plenty, but had not been located long, before he heard a noise on the hillside behind him and warily "casting an eye" behind him in search of a marauding squirrel, he just was surprised but not pleased to discover a sleek looking bear ambling down the hill side, intent on following a trail down into the hollow.

Waite's old eyes looked began to rise, and so did he when he saw that the bear was sniffing along on his track, not unlike a hound. When he discovered the bear, Waite was sitting along the banks of a run and one ten foot leap, for a starter, landed him on the other side of that run. Just as even half mile from camp. Inside of four minutes by the Ingersoll, Waite bursted that shanty door open and after lunging the door behind him, immediately sought rest, exhaustion and his second wind in the top tier of the banks.

He was there at noon when the other fellows returned, and unable to keep the secret of his thriller, told them the story. When Stewart asked why he didn't shoot the dern thing, Waite replied that he wasn't hunting bear, he was hunting squirrels. He also explained his getaway by saying that when he saw that bear come sniffing along his trail like a found on the scent, he thought he must be hunting tracks, so he just

RISCA WILLIAMS TO THIS COLUMN FOR BOYS SING HERE, WAS AND GIRLS AND PARENTS ON LUSITANIA

The Royal Welsh Concert company, composed of Lustran survivors who appear in Clearfield, next Thursday evening. Three of this company were lost in the great war disaster. Those who were saved were Ben Davies, Risca Williams and Miss Genevieve Andrews.

Ben Davies is a native of Wales and reveals a charming tenor voice which is well displayed in all his numbers. He has a natural tenor voice of unusual range and flexibility. Not only has he a very pleasing voice but his diction is unusually good.

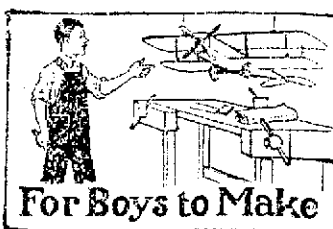

Risca Williams is also a native of Wales. His first instruction in musical theory and voice was received from his father who was a well-known director of Welsh choirs. Mr. Williams is the possessor of a voice that ranks well with the best of baritones, a voice full of sweetness and feeling. Particularly commanding is his fine interpretation. Singing with dramatic intensity and simple delicacy as the case demands, which, with a combination of pure voice, perfectly trained, gives him a distinction few artists enjoy.

Miss Genevieve Andrews, solo pianist and accompanist, is a proud possessor of the gold medal for her beautiful playing. This gifted young artist is not widely known to the general public and is in fact a FIND, having achieved many successes in both recital and concert work.

During the performance Mr. Williams will tell of his experiences on the ill-fated ship. We quote from his lecture as follows:

"Homeward bound! Only those who have been running in strange lanes for many weary months and years get any idea what the thrill feels like when boarding a steamer. Her whistles meant the last 'jump' to bring him back to home, loved ones and scenes of happy boyhood days or childhood. Such were our feelings when we, the Royal Welsh singers, boarded the ill-fated Lusitania, at New York, on May 1, 1915, when she sailed on her last fatal journey. On the cheering, the sorrow and laughter by that mighty throng on the quayside and the 2,000 souls aboard the mighty liner. Alas, little did the majority of that huge throng realize that they were gazing on the faces of their dear ones for the last time. And then the happy trip across the mighty ocean, everyone as the days going by getting quite intimate, until when the beautiful green hills of Ireland were sighted, we were almost like a great happy family. And then in the midst of merriment and mirth—that terrible appalling crash.

Like a Death Knell
It sounded to all like a death knell—like the crack of doom. Who can describe the terrible scene that ensued when those hundreds of helpless,

Flying Airplane on Track

BY GRANT M. HYDE.

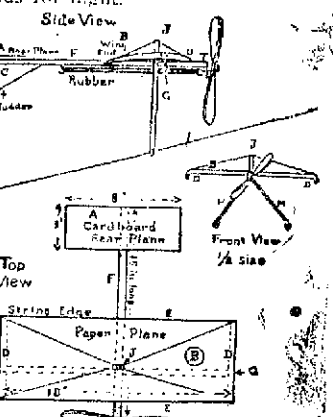

There are many ways of building toy model airplanes that will fly, but the trouble is that they are often broken when they fall in the first tests. Here is a way of tying them without mis-spread the landing gear wide apart and place rings in the end. Then run two cords, for a flying track, from the ground on a gentle slant to a tree rather high in the air. Allow the airplane to rest on the cord track, with the cords through the rings of the landing gear. Start the plane at the lower end and let it fly up the track, while testing it. The track will give freedom enough to show what readjustments are necessary for proper balance.

Of all the designs for model planes, this one is as good as any that are easy to build. The main body is a square stick (F), 15 inches long, with propeller at front end and planes fastened to top. The main plane (B), 5x18 inches, is made of two end ribs (D, D), held apart by a girder (G), with cord edges (E, E), all covered over with paper pasted in place. Perhaps an upright strut of wire or wood (C) with cord stays to the corners of the plane, will be needed to make it stiffer. The rear balance plane (A) is a piece of cardboard, 3x8 inches. It is a cardboard rudder (C) fitted into a sawed split in F.

The propeller, 8 inches long, may be whittled out of a piece of pine or shaped out of tin. Its shaft is a wire running through a bent piece of tin (T) with a glass bead for a bearing. It is propelled by heavy rubber bands running back to a screw hook in F. The landing gear may be made of stiff wire or of light sticks lashed to B and J.

Be sure to turn the propeller the right way when twisting up the rubber bands for flight.

For Girls to Make

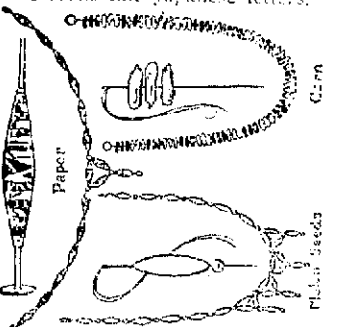

Indoor and Outdoor Bends

BY CAROLIN SHEKWIN BAILEY.

Bright-colored beads are in style now; therefore every girl ought to have a string. It is ever so much fun to make them, if you know how.

Indoor Bends
Using old magazine covers, colored advertisements, funny pages, and anything of the sort, cut little triangular pennant-shaped strips of paper an inch wide at the base, tapering to a point at about six inches. Beginning at the wider end, roll these strips as tightly as possible around a hawpin, and then paste down the tip firmly.

If you have power of your favorite color, you can make beads of any color scheme you like, but special paper is not really necessary. Ordinary paper, even from old Sunday newspapers, is all right. The printing on the rolled beads looks like Japanese letters.

Outdoor Bends:

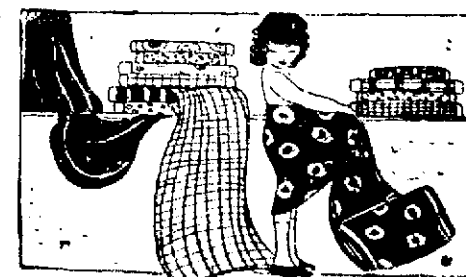

You have you ever thought of the possibilities in beads, kernels of corn, vanderbilts or squash seeds, and the like? These are autumn jewels. Soak the seeds in lukewarm water to soften them. When they are soft enough to work with, dry between folded towels. Decide on the arrangement and color combination. You will be surprised to see what pretty effects you can bring about.

Use a long, slender needle threaded with coarse cotton. Red and yellow kernels of corn, string alternately in groups of three, will make exactly the necklace you want to wear with your Camp Fire dress. Those little marbled, red and brown beads look well stringed either singly or with grains of corn.

String melon seeds singly and as carefully as you can, putting the needle through each seed from point to point. Decorate them with your water colors. If you are making a necklace to wear with your gay plaid gingham frock, select the most prominent color in the cloth, and paint the beads to match. You may need to put on two or three coats of paint, allowing each one to dry thoroughly before putting on the next. Such a necklace of melon or squash seeds will be very pretty if colored jade-green or amber-orange. Small crystal beads may be combined with the seeds, if you like.

innocent men and women and children found themselves caught like rats in a trap with nothing but fearful death all around and in sight of hand. I only know to say that I lived through it all but how I cannot tell. I remember the plunge overboard, the struggle in the midst of a choking confusion of drowning people, the swiftness of that giant liner, then that fearful struggle down, down in the depths of the ocean, that I came up gasping and almost dead. Then the struggle to get to that capsize boat and the faint hope that I still had a chance to live. To describe the terrible sights drifting all around would be too shocking to attempt. But when we got to Queenstown and called the roll we found that three of our comrades were silent forever. George Davies, director; D. T. Hopkins, bass; and Talf A. Jones, baritone, were those who made their last long, long "jump". If it was not for the fact that I was so desperately concerned in saving my own life I believe the sights around me would have driven me insane. I am thankful I am alive, but if I live to be a thousand years old, I hope I shall never experience or even read about anything so horrible as the "Lusitania Disaster."

MEETING TOMORROW WILL DECIDE FATE OF NATION

LEWIS GIVES NO INDICATIONS THAT STRIKE ORDER WILL BE RECALLED WHEN MAIN BODY MEETS

WILL DRAFT REPLY TO WILSON

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—The executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America, 25 union district presidents of coal producing states and members of the main body committee will meet at headquarters here at ten o'clock tomorrow morning to draft an answer to President Wilson's appeal that the soft coal strike set for Friday at midnight be called off.

That the answer will be that the strike must go on unless demands are met by the mine operators was the opinion at mine headquarters today. Blame for the strike will be placed on the mine operators in the answer, it was stated.

Meantime preparations for the strike continue. A hundred per cent strike was predicted by union officials here.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 28.—There is no indication that the coal strike order will be rescinded, according to acting President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers today. Lewis left for Indianapolis today to attend a meeting of the executive board of the miners called to consider the strike situation. He said the board probably will make a reply to President Wilson then but he emphasized the statement that the board was not called to vote to withdraw the strike order.

THE WINBURNE BRICK & SHARP

The Winburne Brick Company hearing continued from Saturday last was re-opened before Judge Bell this morning. Promoter Thomas M. Wilson was again placed upon the stand and testified in his own behalf until about 11 o'clock when Thomas Allabran, of Pungitawney, one of the organizers and Treasurer of the corporation was called for examination by A. H. Woodward, Esq. Allabran, according to his story, some of which was stricken out by Judge Bell because it was not pertinent to this case. Wilson was to divide fifty with him when he got his $100,000 for turning over the leases for the Snyder properties to the brick company. Allabran was on the stand when adjournment was taken at noon. His examination and that of the Cooper township stockholders took up the entire afternoon session and will be noted in tomorrow's Progress.

NEED MORE GOOD HIGHWAYS

One of Benefits of War is Sure to Be Increase in Thoroughly Improved Roads.

One of the benefits of the war is sure to be more good roads in this country, and in other parts of the world where highways have not been generally and thoroughly improved. We used to say "better roads," but now there is a large mileage so good that if the rest were brought up to the best American level, nothing more could sensibly be asked. Many roads in America are quite worthy of comparison with any in Europe. All we need is more of them, and then still more until the country is gridironed and netted with such highways.

Good Roads Available.

When the people of the towns and country unite to build and maintain roads then will good roads be available.

H.S. DOWNS MT. UNION IN FAST GRID MATCH

While Scrubs Journey To The Village Of Clymer To Get Trimmed By "Old Boys"

MT. UNION TEAM STRONG

Under the stimulus of the cheer of a good-sized crowd of students and townspeople C. H. S. proceeded to give Mt. Union a taste of real football Saturday. The weather man remembered his promise and sent ideal weather for the game, thereby adding to the size of the crowd and the success of the day. Although the game was interesting all the way through there were no spectacular plays and but few complicated formations used by either side. In the first it was a clean, steady game which gave the spectators all that could be desired in the way of football and gave the team the assurance of another victory to back them up in next Saturday's game with DuBois. Clearfield had scored one goal for several points when the game ended but Mt. Union was still hunting for the post.

Captain Butler was not in the game and the second team was playing at Clymer, thus limiting Clearfield's punch and reserve force and no doubt accounting in a large measure for the small score. Mt. Union put up a very good game, however, and although they did not attempt any brilliant work the weight of their line enabled them to make very marked gains by the use of straight football. They had an exceptionally heavy line and made good use of it on several occasions when hard pressed by the Red and Black.

Everybody was well pleased with the game and it is generally conceded that it was the best game seen here for some time. The account of the game by quarters which follows will give some idea of the progress of the play.

First Quarter
Clearfield's bounding kick-off was carried to the middle of the field by a Mt. Union man and the two teams quickly lined up for the first clash. Putting their trust in their superior weight, Mt. Union began their offensive with a series of line plunges. For a time it seemed they had the tight system, because every time they tried a goodly gain. But C. H. S. worked fast and after two or three downs the line stiffened and held and after that the visitors pounded fruitlessly against the much lighter locals. When they were still thirty yards from the goal and their line plays had ceased to advance them so rapidly Mt. Union attempted to gain a goal in a hurry by a forward pass. The pass was incomplete and the ball went to Clearfield.

The ball was on the ten-yard line, however, and C. H. S. settled down to get it away from their own goal. Mt. Union held fast and the quarter ended with the ball on Clearfield's twenty-yard line.

Second Quarter
The quarter opened with a rush and continued at a fast pace all the way through. Clearfield tried several line plays and then lost the ball on a forward pass but soon recovered it when Mt. Union kicked. The ball was then on Clearfield's ten yard line and the visitors held C. H. S. to a five-yard gain and then got the ball on downs. Profiting by their previous experience, Mt. Union stuck to line plunges and earned the ball back to Clearfield's two-yard line. Here the local sound took a stand and held fast until the whistle ended the half.

Third Quarter
Mt. Union began the second half with a clean kick-off which Clearfield received within ten yards of their goal and carried back to their thirty-yard line. Several line plays bringing but a small gain. C. H. S. changed their tactics and began a series of end runs and passes that soon carried them close to Mt. Union's goal. The first of these plays was an end run in which Cox carried the ball for a twenty-five yard gain.

OPPOSITION IN SENATE TO OVER-RIDING VETO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—An attempt to obtain a speedy vote on President Wilson's veto on the national prohibition bill encountered opposition in the Senate when the matter was brought up by Senator Sterling.

Immediately before the Senate discussed it, it was made known at the White House that President Wilson will not lift the ban on war time prohibition until the ratification of the peace treaty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—President Wilson has an intention of lifting the war time prohibition ban until the peace treaty is ratified, it was learned at the White House today. All indications pointed to an early over-riding of the President's veto of the national prohibition enforcement act. It was stated that the President may lift the ban as soon as he feels he has legal authority but no sooner.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The President today vetoed the Prohibition enforcement bill.

At 5:15 o'clock with the time for adjournment near, the President's veto message was read to the House. Barely two hours later the House in a holiday session, voted decisively to override the veto, although a parliamentary tangle threatened to hold up the measure.

The vote in the House was 176 to 55 with two members voting present. Action in the Senate will come later in the week. There is no question but that its vote to override the veto will be equally as decisive, so the President's action will have served merely to stave the enforcement of the bill temporarily.

In rejecting the prohibition measure the President gave as his principal reason that there is no need now for the enforcement of the war time prohibition act further, because its objects have been satisfied by the demobilization.

The President's message follows:
To the House of Representatives:
"I am returning without my signature, H. R. Bill 6810, an act to prohibit intoxicating beverages and to regulate the manufacture, production, use and sale of high proof spirits."

"The subject matter treated in this measure deals with two distinct phases of the prohibition legislation. One part of the act seeks to enforce war time prohibition. The other provides for the enforcement which was made necessary by the adoption of the constitutional amendment. I object to and cannot approve that part of this legislation with reference to war time prohibition. It has to do with the enforcement of an act which was passed by reason of the emergency of the war and whose object has been satisfied in the demobilization of the army and navy and whose repeal I have already sought at the hands of Congress. Where the purposes of particular legislation arising out of war emergencies have been satisfied, sound public policy makes clear the reason and necessity for repeal."

"It will not be difficult for Congress in considering this important matter to separate these two questions and effectively to legislate regarding them; making the proper distinction between temporary causes which arose out of war time emergencies and those life the constitutional prohibition, which is now a part of the fundamental law. In all matters having to do with the personal habits and customs of large numbers of our people, we must be certain that the established processes of legal change are followed. In no other way can the salutary objects sought be accomplished by great reforms of this character be made satisfactory and permanent."

"WOODROW WILSON"

When the president's veto message was read in the house Representative Volstead of Minnesota, Chairman of the House Judiciary, which framed the legislation, moved to postpone consideration until Thursday. There were few members on the floor at the time, and the "wets" counting noses, saw an opportunity to sustain the veto.

A parliamentary wrangle ensued in which half a dozen motions were voted down and finally Representative Volstead moved the previous question which set off debate and brought the veto before the house. The previous question was adopted and the vote to override the veto was taken.

The President's action in vetoing the measure caused a stir in Congress. Both wet and dry leaders in the senate joined tonight in the opinion that the action in the senate on the measure would be similar to that of the House.

The President's action does not change the existing situation in any untoward degree in those states cities and communities where a court ruling has already legalized the sale of 2.75 per cent. alcoholic beverages. The sale of these may be continued if the prohibition act becomes a law, severe penalties would have been imposed on anyone selling liquors containing more than one-half per cent. of alcohol.

JUSTICE HOODWINKED

Some ten or a dozen boys boys were before Judge Bell in Juvenile court yesterday afternoon, charged with varying degrees of cussedness, extending from petty larceny to incorrigibility and refusal to go to school.

The great Pennsylvania Railroad Company had three little lads aged 8, 10 and 11 years yanked over the hills from Tyler for stealing a freezer of ice cream left standing in front of the station there. Two of the lads were Americans and the third was a little Italian. The alleged crime was committed last winter and there was possibly two or three dollars involved yet these children were taken out of school and their parents put to the expense of coming to Clearfield to answer for a thoughtless kid's prank which should have been settled at home with a shingle or at least by the Justice of the Peace unless it was a case of more costs the other way.

The testimony showed the boys were good boys and had never been in any trouble before yet the railroad company by their hired detective robbed the nursery and pasted a criminal court record on three irresponsible kiddos. Judge Bell gave the boys a friendly talking to and sent them home under parole of Probation Officer Leavy, but the haling of such mere children into criminal court under such circumstances no doubt accounts for the blindfold over the eyes of the figure representing Justice which generally adorns American court rooms.

The railroad company "bull" is a necessary evil and Detective Lowery is a good man in his place but this case looked more like persecution than necessary prosecution.

LAKE STEAMER CRASHES ON PIERS

MUSKEGON, Mich.—Ten persons were reported drowned early today when a lake steamer, the "City of Muskegon," was blown to pieces against the piers at Muskegon. Seven bodies were recovered. The vessel entered the harbor as a 60 mile gale was blowing. The vessel was launched in Detroit in 1881. It was first known as the "City of Milwaukee." She has a metal hull and is 231 feet long. Later her name was changed to the "City of Holland." The vessel was wrecked at 4:30 A. M., in a heavy sea. The old boat attempted to push between two piers, one extending out into the lake. A great wave struck her just as she entered the passage and threw the boat broadside against the south pier. Timbers were smashed to splinters. In the darkness and confusion a count of the passengers was attempted. Twenty persons were unaccounted for. Some of these are believed to have climbed to the piers after being thrown into the water. Only ten are believed to be lost, according to Captain Edward Miller.

This was the cleanest play of the entire game and brought a greater gain than any other attempt. It was followed almost immediately for a forward pass which landed the Red and Black on Mt. Union's three-yard line. Attempting to push the ball over by line plays Clearfield was stopped four times and lost the ball on downs within two yards of making a touchdown.

Mt. Union was in a hurry to get the ball to the other end of the field and tried another forward pass. This failed worse than the others they had tried because Bowes intercepted the pass and carried the ball back to the five-yard marker. The playing was resumed with a snap and only the umpire's whistle ending the quarter prevented Clearfield from scoring.

Last Quarter

The ball was now only three yards from Mt. Union's goal and Clearfield was determined to score. With this visitors all lined up and waiting to shove back another series of line plays the Red and Black squad changed their tactics and by a fake formation Bowes carried a forward pass over for the first goal. Flegal preceded to place a clean kick and brought Clearfield's score up to seven points.

After the kick off C. H. S. held the Mt. Union line hard and got the ball on downs. The ball had been carried well into the Red and Black territory however, and the forward pass by which they attempted to carry it down the field was incomplete, thus giving the ball to Mt. Union. With only a few minutes to play Mt. Union took advantage of the opportunity afforded by the failure of Clearfield's pass and worked their mass line plays for all they were worth. C. H. S. worked hard, however, and held the heavy visitors so well that they were still twenty yards from the goal when the game ended.

The Scrubs at Clymer

In order to give the scrubs a little experience and in acknowledgement of their strenuous work in making the first team what it is, the manager of the team arranged a game with Clymer last Saturday. The second team journeyed to that little town of mines and mud holes with the expectation of meeting a high school team and were fully confident of giving the Clymerites all they wanted in the way of good football.

One generally expects to find "miners" in a high school team and Clymer lived up to all expectations. The game was scheduled for three o'clock but the scrubs were kept waiting for at least an hour before there was any sign of an opposing team. Then about four fifteen long-delayed warriors of the mining town put in their appearance and the cause of the delay was at once apparent. The men were indeed "miners." Just above the neck of his jersey each defender of Clymer's football reputation carried a collar-like ring which he had been unable to wash off in the short time he had had between quitting at the mine and appearing on the grid. The scrubs finally learned that they were to pit their skill against the brawn and muscle of the Clymer Athletic Association and not a high school team as they had expected.

The teams lined up and the battle began. Most of the men on Clymer's team were of considerable size, their line averaging about one hundred sixty-five pounds to Clearfield's hundred and thirty-five. Besides this advantage in weight Clymer had another decided advantage in the enthusiasm exhibited by their cheering section. The Clymer warriors were not only out of the "minor" class, but most of them were possessed of a wife and several leather-lunged offspring and one would travel a long way before finding a more devoted or enthusiastic bunch of cheerers. When "Dad" lined up on the field the entire family began shouting words of encouragement from their point of vantage on the side-lines.

Clearfield worked hard but made little showing against such opponents and with the assembled families shouting such words of encouragement as "get him Pop," our men soon began to show signs of wear. However, the scrubs kept up a good fight

Ladies! Try this! Darkens beautifully and nobody can tell—Brings back its gloss and youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost at any drug store, known as "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not unattractive, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking only small stand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

IRA WAITE WASN'T HUNTING BEAR SO WHY SHOOT BRUIN

County Treasurer Kline, Leslie Stewart and Ira B. Waite were down along Three Runs, in Clinton county last week, on a squirrel shooting expedition, and not only found lots of squirrels, but according to information leaking out gradually here and there, "Old Man" Waite appears to have had the time of his life for a little while at least.

One morning the crew got out into the squirrel woods just at daybreak, and each fellow hied himself to his particular vantage point, to wait for the squirrels to come along. Waite selected a spot in a ravine where hickory trees were plenty, but had not been located long, before he heard a noise on the hillside behind him and warily "casting an eye" behind him in search of a marauding squirrel, he just was surprised but not pleased to discover a sleek looking bear ambling down the hill side, intent on following a trail down into the hollow.

Waite's old eyes looked began to rise, and so did he when he saw that the bear was sniffing along on his track, not unlike a hound. When he discovered the bear, Waite was sitting along the banks of a run and one ten foot leap, for a starter, landed him on the other side of that run. Just as even half mile from camp. Inside of four minutes by the Ingersoll, Waite bursted that shanty door open and after lunging the door behind him, immediately sought rest, exhaustion and his second wind in the top tier of the banks.

He was there at noon when the other fellows returned, and unable to keep the secret of his thriller, told them the story. When Stewart asked why he didn't shoot the darn thing, Waite replied that he wasn't hunting bear, he was hunting squirrels. He also explained his getaway by saying that when he saw that bear come sniffing along his trail like a found on the scent, he thought he must be hunting tracks, so he just

The Royal Welsh Concert company, composed of Lustran survivors who appear in Clearfield, next Thursday evening. Three of this company were lost in the great war disaster. Those who were saved were Ben Davies, Risca Williams and Miss Genevieve Andrews.

Ben Davies is a native of Wales and reveals a charming tenor voice which is well displayed in all his numbers. He has a natural tenor voice of unusual range and flexibility. Not only has he a very pleasing voice but his diction is unusually good.

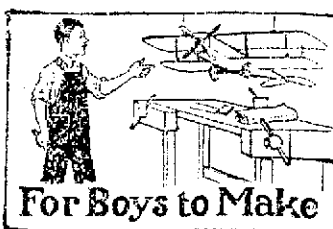

Risca Williams is also a native of Wales. His first instruction in musical theory and voice was received from his father who was a well-known director of Welsh choirs. Mr. Williams is the possessor of a voice that ranks well with the best of baritones, a voice full of sweetness and feeling. Particularly commanding is his fine interpretation. Singing with dramatic intensity and simple delicacy as the case demands, which, with a combination of pure voice, perfectly trained, gives him a distinction few artists enjoy.

Miss Genevieve Andrews, solo pianist and accompanist, is a proud possessor of the gold medal for her beautiful playing. This gifted young artist is not widely known to the general public and is in fact a FIND, having achieved many successes in both recital and concert work.

During the performance Mr. Williams will tell of his experiences on the ill-fated ship. We quote from his lecture as follows:

"Homeward bound! Only those who have been running in strange lanes for many weary months and years get any idea what the thrill feels like when boarding a steamer. Her whistles meant the last 'jump' to bring him back to home, loved ones and scenes of happy boyhood days or childhood. Such were our feelings when we, the Royal Welsh singers, boarded the ill-fated Lusitania, at New York, on May 1, 1915, when she sailed on her last fatal journey. On the cheering, the sorrow and laughter by that mighty throng on the quayside and the 2,000 souls aboard the mighty liner. Alas, little did the majority of that huge throng realize that they were gazing on the faces of their dear ones for the last time. And then the happy trip across the mighty ocean, everyone as the days going by getting quite intimate, until when the beautiful green hills of Ireland were sighted, we were almost like a great happy family. And then in the midst of merriment and mirth—that terrible appalling crash.

Like a Death Knell
It sounded to all like a death knell—like the crack of doom. Who can describe the terrible scene that ensued when those hundreds of helpless,

Flying Airplane on Track

BY GRANT M. HYDE.

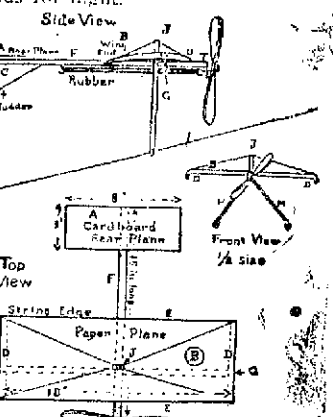

There are many ways of building toy model airplanes that will fly, but the trouble is that they are often broken when they fall in the first tests. Here is a way of tying them without mis-

spread the landing gear wide apart and place rings in the end. Then run two cords, for a flying track, from the ground on a gentle slant to a tree rather high in the air. Allow the airplane to rest on the cord track, with the cords through the rings of the landing gear. Start the plane at the lower end and let it fly up the track, while testing it. The track will give freedom enough to show what readjustments are necessary for proper balance.

Of all the designs for model planes, this one is as good as any that are easy to build. The main body is a square stick (F), 15 inches long, with propeller at front end and planes fastened to top. The main plane (B) is 18 inches, is made of two end ribs (D, D), held apart by a girder (G), with cord edges (E, E), all covered over with paper pasted in place. Perhaps an equal strip of wire or wood (C) with cord staves to the corners of the plane, will be needed to make it stiffer. The rear balance plane (A) is a piece of cardboard, 3.5 inches long, it is a cardboard rudder (C) fitted into a sawed split in F.

The propeller, 8 inches long, may be whittled out of a piece of pine or shaped out of tin. Its shaft is a wire running through a bent piece of tin (T) with a glass bead for a bearing. It is propelled by heavy rubber bands running back to a screw hook in F. The landing gear may be made of stiff wire or of light sticks lashed to B and J.

Be sure to turn the propeller the right way when twisting up the rubber bands for flight.

For Girls to Make

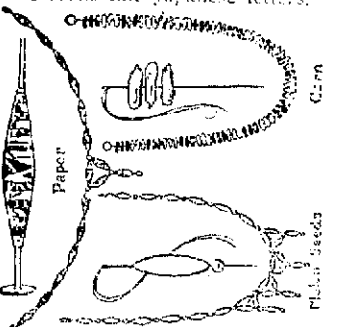

Indoor and Outdoor Beads

BY CAROLIN SHEKWIN BAILEY.

Bright-colored beads are in style now; therefore every girl ought to have a string. It is ever so much fun to make them, if you know how.

Indoor Beads
Using old magazine covers, colored advertisements, funny pages, and anything of the sort, cut little triangular pennant-shaped strips of paper an inch wide at the base, tapering to a point at about six inches. Beginning at the wider end, roll these strips as tightly as possible around a hawpin, and then paste down the tip firmly.

If you have power of your favorite color, you can make beads of any color scheme you like, but special paper is not really necessary. Ordinary paper, even from old Sunday newspapers, is all right. The printing on the rolled beads looks like Japanese letters.

Outdoor Beads

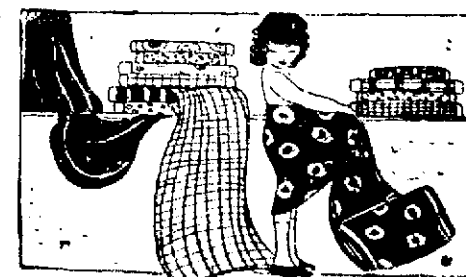

You have you ever thought of the possibilities in beads, kernels of corn, vanderbilts or squash seeds, and the like? These are autumn jewels. Soak the seeds in lukewarm water to soften them. When they are soft enough to work with, dry between folded towels. Decide on the arrangement and color combination. You will be surprised to see what pretty effects you can bring about.

Use a long, slender needle threaded with coarse cotton. Red and yellow kernels of corn, string alternately in groups of three, will make exactly the necklace you want to wear with your Camp Fire dress. Those little marbled, red and brown beans look well stringed either singly or with grains of corn.

String melon seeds singly and as carefully as you can, putting the needle through each seed from point to point. Decorate them with your water colors. If you are making a necklace to wear with your gay plaid gingham frock, select the most prominent color in the cloth, and paint the beads to match. You may need to put on two or three coats of paint, allowing each one to dry thoroughly before putting on the next. Such a necklace of melon or squash seeds will be very pretty if colored jade-green or amber-orange. Small crystal beads may be combined with the seeds, if you like.
